

Project Manager

PRIMARY OBJECTIVE

Seeking Project Manager to work with Shanghai Amphenol Airwave team to ensure project success. Responsible for building and maintaining relationships with key US customers.

Location: Cupertino, CA

MAJOR RESPONSIBILITIES

- Work with local sales team to determine key customer R&D structure and project contacts
- Work as contact window for R&D side
- Make project plans, be responsible for meeting key project milestones
- Work with Shanghai R&D team to provide the best schedule and qualified samples in each engineering build stage
- Visit and work with local customer project team to gather project requirements. Pass the information to Shanghai R&D team and communicate between Amphenol and the customer.
- Highlight issues and/or gating items to Shanghai R&D team and take corrective actions to eliminate potential risk.
- Work with customers continually for new project opportunities.

REQUIREMENTS

- 5+ years PM experience in mass production industry. Involvement in R&D/engineering is preferred.
- University degree
- Mechanical and tooling background is preferred
- Project management skills, ISO 9000, MS-office and/or IOS
- Team player who works to understand the perspectives of coworkers and customers
- Ability to multi-task and manage time
- Strong communication, negotiation, and decision making skills
- Organized, responsible, and flexible
- Fluency in both written and verbal English